

Excuse Me For Breathing (From Castillo to Sylmar Book 4)

After his guerrilla service and a short stint with the U.S. Army 7th Cavalry Regiment, where he participated in mopping up operations, the author returns home, only to find that he is unable to neither finish his education for lack of funds, nor find and hold down any kind of employment. His father blames the son (the author) to poor attitude and unwillingness to do menial labor, so he gives him an ultimatum to get a job and not come back without one. The author leaves home and wanders around the back streets where he meets a young gypsy from Romania. Her words of prophecy dictates the authors destiny forever.
