

When Sheriff Jason Savage calls Niki Edgar to a murder scene, she arrives unaware the prime suspect is none other than her ex-husband, DeWayne's, girlfriend, Cybil. She finds out when she smells Cybil in the murder victim's closet. Smells her? Yes! Niki suffers from hyperosmia, a medical condition that causes her to possess a superhuman ability to smell. As you can imagine, life takes on a certain intensity for hyperosmics. Life gets complicated when the hunky sheriff and the ex-husband she's not quite over ask Niki to help prove Cybil's innocence. She reluctantly agrees, then spends a horrible few days vacillating between trying to prove Cybil's innocence and hoping to find she did, in fact, murder her husband. A fun story filled with hilarious situations, Bloodhound is the book to take to the beach or curl up with on a rainy afternoon. First in the Niki Edgar Mystery series, Bloodhound introduces sassy, sexy, lovable hyperosmic Niki Edgar, the men in her life, and the trouble she can't seem to stay out of. A first person narrative, Niki's quirky personality and penchant for embarrassing herself will keep you wanting to know what happens next!
