The Board of Health of the Philippines was constituted by act of the Philippine Commission dated July 1, 1901. It has general supervision over all the interests of the public health in the Philippines and is especially charged with the duty of studying vital statistics. It is directed to make investigation into the causes, pathology, and means of preventing diseases of all kinds, especially epidemic diseases, including those of domestic animals as well. It is charged with the duty of preparing and, to a certain extent, with enforcing suitable sanitary measures and laws. To the Bureau is attached a sanitary engineer who is charged with supervision and consultation in all constructions and repairs involving the state of the public health. The Board consists of a commissioner of Public Health, chief health inspector, sanitary engineer, superintendent of Government Laboratories, and the secretary of the Board as active members, and the chief surgeon of the Army in the Philippine Islands, the chief officer of the Marine-Hospital Service in the Philippine Islands, the president and vice-president of the Association of Physicians and Pharmacists of the Philippine Islands as honorary members. The honorary members are entitled to attend the sessions of the board and to advise and be heard by it, ut are not entitled to a vote in its decisions.

Under date of January 4, 1900, in order to
