

Quarter Centennial Celebration of the Settlement of Kalamazoo Michigan (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from Quarter Centennial Celebration of the Settlement of Kalamazoo Michigan It is in contemplation, by the Ladies of Kalamazoo, to celebrate the termination of the First Quarter Of A Century, since the settlement of that Village by white inhabitants, and in reference to such an event, they are anxious to collect as much authentic information as possible, relative to its early existence. To you, as one of the pioneer residents, whose memory must supply many interesting and important facts, the Committee appointed for that purpose, respectfully suggest the following important points of interest, regarding which they would feel obliged by any information in your power, accompanied by as precise dates as possible. The Indian tribes inhabiting this region, and their intercourse with white settlers. The political and civil organizations of the County and Village. The early history of the different churches and schools, with the dates of their organization; and all such a purpose and local recollections as may occur to your mind, as suitable for such a purpose. The committee will feel grateful for an early answer to their application, embodying such information and reminiscences in a written form, and addressed to any one of their number.
